PERSONAL STATEMENT

Architecture combines art and creativity, which explains why those from all over the world are drawn to it. Furthermore, design is an area of this subject of study that is critical in bringing this art to the global audience.

This is the main incentive that drives me to work enthusiastically and passionately in this field; expressing social identity and communicating it via creative design that keeps up with innovation and technology while carrying the nation's identity; this is the objective that every designer must pursue.

My mission as an Arab designer is to contribute to this, and it is the primary aim for which I aspire.

Let's collaborate to strengthen our identity and assist our communities through design.
