2014 A PROPOSED EVENT MANAGEMENT SYSTEM IN IRAQ USING DRUPAL.

- My master thesis that presented to the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science in the University of Central Missouri in May 2014.
- The thesis focuses on Content Management System (CMS) that is a new technology of the web development field. Nowadays, this topic is very popular in researching. Drupal is one of the most popular content management system. The Iraqi researchers and the students who are interested to participate and attend the scientific and educational events have faced a difficult issue when they try to find these events. Therefore, this thesis aims to find a solution for this problem through designing and implementing a proposed event management system, which allows the user to find these events very easily. Moreover, this system presents an opportunity to the Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research in Iraq to store and evaluate the research and the events as well as the ability of updating the information of the system. This system designed and implemented by Drupal Content Management System.

- When programmer wants to build a website, he should go and learn one of the most popular website programming languages such as PHP, ASP.net, JavaScript, etc. All these languages require a skilled a tremendous effort to be able to design and create a powerful website. However, these languages require some particular server platforms to be able to implement them easily and with flexibility. These procedures spend time, money and effort to achieve the particular requirements.
